A map of the study area showing the locations of the five sampling sites (A, B, C, E, G) relative to the North arrow. The map is a plan view of the river section. The North arrow is located in the bottom right corner, pointing upwards. The sites are labeled as follows: A is the furthest upstream (top right), followed by B, C, E, and G, which are the furthest downstream (bottom left). The sites are connected by a line, indicating they are part of the same study area. The map also shows the river channel and the surrounding land.
